Lingering Pandemic Memories From A To Z

This is the Third in a series about corona virus:

The corona virus is now banished to my memory jar on a postcard. But the unforgettable time will live on including anxiety, uncertainty and travel bans. Learnt about the infectious disease, and worried about jobs, the economy, and flattening the curve. During the quarantine, we were social distancing, washing hands, using hand sanitizer, wearing masks and hoarding toilet paper. We were grateful for the first responders while we hoped for a cure.

Materials: Cotton, lame, beads, buttons, sequins, trims, washers, lock washers

Techniques: Text and Corona virus designed in computer software and printed on fabric, Hand embroidery, free motion quilting 22"w x26"h

I finally added the mitered border to finish this UFO. Loosely woven Kaffe Fassett striped fabric was challenging to work with!

This and the next are custom, long arm stitching I did for a customer's quilt.

Red Hot Jazz

This quilt was started in Maria Shell's "Kitchen Sink Quilting" class November 2020. It was beautifully quilted by Laura Jarvis of Kootsi Quilting. My sister saw it in progress and named it. She'll get it for her birthday in October.

David Owens Hastings Workshops

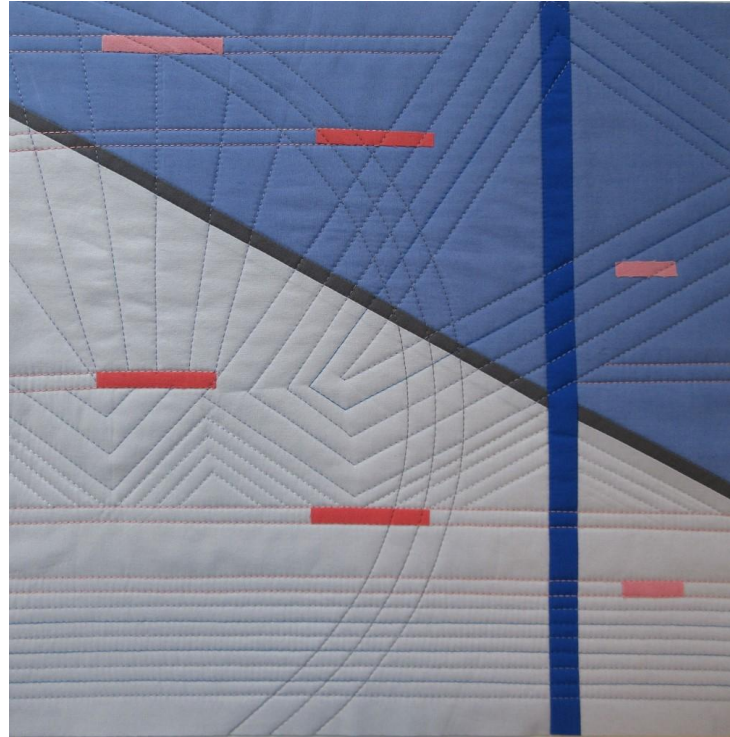

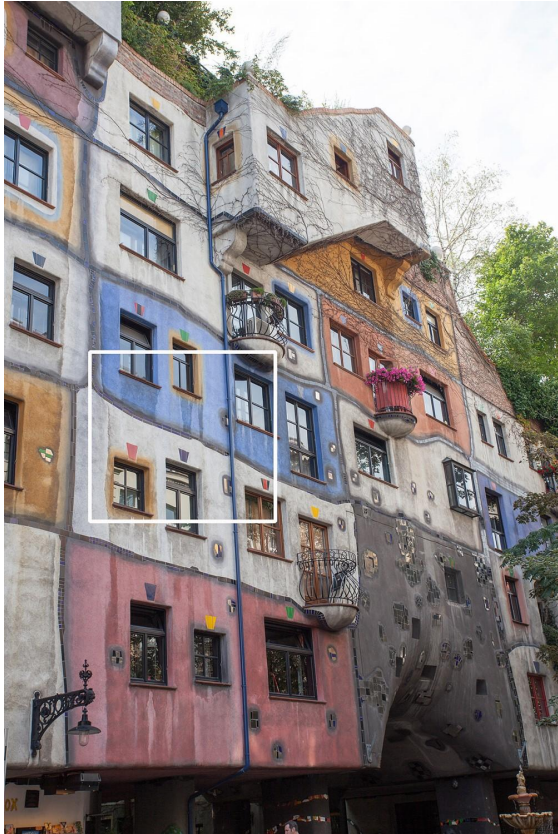

Linda Theil

Had a great time at the GAAQG's quilt-design workshop live on Zoom with David Owen Hastings! What an absolutely great teacher -- such a pleasure; learned so much! #gaaqg #davidowenhastings #appleondance

Marilyn Knepp

Made in the May workshop, "Inspired by Architecture," with David Owen Hastings, accompanied by the inspiration photo of Hundertwasserhaus in Vienna.
